Legion Bonus Demand Goes to Harling

McNIDER ASKS FOR SPEED

Victory in House Seen by Mondell After Conference With the President

Washington, Feb. 27.—The American Legion's insistence that the bonus bill be passed without unreasonable delay will be conveyed to President Harding direct today by Hanford McNider, national commander of the Legion.

McNider called at the White House today and made an appointment to see the President later.

"I am in Washington to fight for the bonus. I am not here, as has been said, to take the bait by the house," McNider said. "I simply intend to put before the President the mood for the passage of the bonus bill."

SPRINGS FOR ITSELF.
"I am rather inclined to believe that the President will be moved by the success or failure of the bonus measure have at heart the desire to do what is right by the men who did right by me. I will urge action. I cannot do more than this. This bonus needs little explanation. It speaks for itself."

Reports that President Harding had "declined to see" the legion commander were denied by White House officials.

McNider called at the White House in the usual way. President Harding's appointment list was filled and he requested an appointment later.

Three States Have 95 Per Cent. of Real Whiskey

Washington, Feb. 27.—During the last year it is estimated that about 1,000,000 gallons of liquor disappeared from warehouse stocks through "evaporation" or "hold ups." The large number of fake hold-ups in which liquor owners are suspected of having conspired with those who engineered the deliveries will be stopped by new methods to be followed in guarding the liquor in bond.

Three States — Maryland, Pennsylvania and Kentucky — now hold 95 per cent. of all the visible supply of real whiskey in the United States. This was shown today by a survey made by enforcement authorities, preliminary to concentrating the remaining liquor stock into two or three warehouses.

It is probable the number of bonded warehouses will be reduced to 50.

CERTAIN HEADLIGHTS ILLEGAL AFTER MARCH 1
Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, today issued a ruling that all cars whose headlights are equipped with Ford 3 green visor headlights this on and after March 1 such headlights, together with Ford visors, will no longer be legal. His approval of them was only temporary. The State registrar said, and the approval was withdrawn, on January 15, to take effect on March 1.

INTRUDERS SCARED OFF AS VICTIM SWOONS

Attack Believed to Have Been Result of Similar Attempted Robbery Some Time Ago

Hold up today by two men in the office of the Simpson Electrical Company, No. 378 Third street, Cambridge, where she is employed as a bookkeeper, Miss Jennie Javary, twenty-five years old, of No. 27 Chatham street, Everett, bravely battled both intruders until she dropped unconscious from her struggles on the office floor.

The men made their escape as several persons, aroused by the cries of the girl, came running to the scene. A general alarm for her capture has been sent to the police of Greater Boston.

Miss Javary was seen in the office when the men entered. She at once recognized them as the same pair that had invaded the office a month ago.

Back in the brave old days of '49, And when a miner found gold in his pan he had a lucky strike worth talking about!

LUCKY STRIKE!

When we discovered the mining process six years ago, it was a Lucky Strike for us.

Why? Because now millions of smokers prefer the special flavor of the Lucky Strike Cigarette — because it's Toasted* — which makes the delicious flavor. And also because it's and robbed her of a purse containing $1.

At that time she called up the police
and notified them of the robbery.
Miss Javary believes the men came back today to avenge her not calling the police at the time of the previous robbery.

One of the men was a six-footer,
dressed in an army coat and apparently a freemason. The other was shorter and had an ugly scar across his face.

As the men entered the bigger one crossed to where the girl was sitting and laid a hand on her arm.

"You know us," he said. "That did you call the police for the last time
last night?"

Miss Javary began to get up, but she was held back by the other man.
He reached for the desk telephone to call, but with a curse the bulky intruder dashed the phone from her hand.

The next moment both men were clinging with their arms around her and trying to throw her to the floor. Miss Javary fought furiously and forced the bigger man back toward a window. As she lashed, the smaller man clapped

a hand over her mouth and tried to prevent her from calling help.

With superhuman effort the girl
finally broke away from the grasp again and dashed toward the street
door, screaming lustily for assistance.
She had almost reached the door
when she was tackled from behind and thrust heavily against a desk.
The blow rendered her unconscious.
Meanwhile, her cries had attracted the attention of several pedestrians,

who came rushing toward the office.
As they appeared the two men dashed out and helped down a street. A number gave chase, but the pair
made a getaway.

The girl, still unconscious, was taken to the Cambridge Municipal Hospital.
There it was found that she had no
wounds from her thrilling encounter with nothing more serious than a bruise and abrasions.

After receiving treatment she gladly returned to her work.

Grand Jury is Given More Evidence on Charges of Bucking Orders

New York, Feb. 27.—The number of Wall street brokerage houses which have crashed since last November advanced toward the forty mark today, with announcement of several more failures.

The investigation already has resulted in indictment of nearly a score of men while complaints against more than thirty others are under the investigation.

Suspension of the brokerage firm of J. B. Murray & Co. was announced from the courtroom of the Criminal Court today. The firm was found guilty of violating the Securities Exchange Act, an inventory position, and that firm was found in Federal Court by three creditors with claims aggregating $100,000. Whether the shot was fired by a highwayman or by street patrol who mistook him for a criminal, the Americans have been determined.

Murray and Callahan are new arrivals in Moscow and have heard many exaggerations of the perils to be encountered in the streets. They were housed bound from a concert when they saw a sleigh ahead of them halted and the occupants with their hands in the air.

Thinking it was a holdup and they would be the next victims, the Americans jumped from their sleigh and ran. Several shots were fired at them as they fled. Murray was wounded in the leg and was unable to continue running and was taken to a hospital.

True it may be, but coaches have overstepped the boundaries of propriety in their endeavor to win games. Many have rated victory above virtue. The sins of these individuals have been magnified so that the public has begun to think there is one thought paramount in the coach's mind—the desire to win games at any cost.

teachings of an athletic instructor. The task that confronts every college coach is to find a way to convince his faculty that he is the right type of instructor. Many faculty members are prejudiced against all athletic coaches. Quite a few are open in their declaration that they will never let a football coach hope to complete his MARRIAGE is the ultimate proof that most men believe better to fish a little than to be unhappy much," and that it is better to be deceived half the time than to be lonely time.

When a bald-headed man refuses to bobbed-haired girl, can't you just picture him turning the last morsel of the apple, and to reproving Eve for having taken the first bite?

A man may risk his life for a woman out of a fight, but when he gives up his power for or one of his pet babies for her, it is love's sake!

Lots of marriages last until death, simply because two people that it is easier to stick together and suffer, than to get a run the risk of marrying unhappily all over again.

A woman is the only person who can make a man love her.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The statement that Lloyd George is to propose a loan of $100,000,000 to the United States, is a breathing space in which reconstruction should be undertaken, is received by financial men with much satisfaction, but that it indicates an appreciation on his part that the country cannot be run without such a loan, is not so much appreciated.

In his recent address in this city, Lloyd George made it pretty clear that he was not so much interested in the reconstruction of the British Empire as in the reconstruction of the United States. He said that the United States is the only country in the world which is not a debtor nation. He said that the United States is the only country in the world which is not a debtor nation. Although the business press continues to show much developments, the belief that spring will bring greater activity.

Cheerful happenings have been more than usually numerous during the last week or so.

A substantial advance in wheat, in corn, in certain live stock, as well as in cotton, thus tending to increase the value of the agricultural products.

Distinct increase in production in the steel industry, that rather dependable economic barometer. That the steel industry is showing a tendency to increase its output.

Another advance in the number of the railway cars and our leading carriers, comparing favorably not only with the figures of last year but of 1920.

A decrease in commercial failures and a tendency to increase in the number of the failures of the banks and the failures of the banks.

Optimistic business forecasts by the Federal Reserve Board and by other responsible authorities.

Viewing the economic situation as a whole, one gratifying feature is that the economic situation is showing a tendency to improve.
